

Courageous conversations

An expert-level course with a blended approach of e-learning and facilitated discussion in a virtual classroom. This short course provides an opportunity to practice communication skills and techniques and receive facilitator feedback.

Target audience

Registered professionals from any Health and Social Care setting who wish to develop or refresh their skills for exploring emotional worries and concerns with people living with cancer and other life limiting conditions.

Registered professionals can use course attendance as evidence of participative learning for CPD or revalidation purposes.

What others have said about the course

"This course was excellent. A really helpful refresher for me as I completed Advance Communication Skills training many years ago and wished to revisit my communication skills. This free offer of half-day training from Macmillan can be easier to manage than costly single-day or 2-day courses"

"I found the learning very useful, it was pitched just right to be able to meet needs of those who might have no experience of courageous conversations and those who had experience and wanted refresher training"

Expressions of interest now open

26th July, 30th August, 4th October and 22nd November

Book your place on the Learning Hub

Macmillan's Learning Hub

MACMILLAN
CANCER SUPPORT